A tiny penny looks mighty big when it buys electric service

WHO SAYS A PENNY won't buy anything nowadays? Certainly not the person who spends it for electricity and considers the value received.

Just one cent's worth of electricity will light a 100-watt lamp for five hours or wash three tubs of clothes. The lowly penny will keep your refrigerator cold for 12 hours or whisk the dirt from 16 room-size rugs.

Through the years the trend in the price of electricity has been downward. Today you get nearly three times as much electricity for your money as you did 30 years ago.

Just think of the ways that electricity works for you—from the first perk of the electric coffee maker in the morning until the last light is flicked out at night. Then think of the low cost.

Any wonder the little penny looks so big?

Gardening Offers Rewards

About this time of the year it is well to urge all readers of the Bulloch Times to consider the possible pleasure to be obtained from flowers, fruits and vegetables. It is also worth noting that, sometimes, such activity can develop a monetary profit.

We are not much concerned, in this article, with the economic gains of gardening. There are other values that come to the individual who seeks to develop something of beauty and perfection in accordance with the laws of nature.

There are countless homes in Bulloch County on lots that need the charm that can come only from well-appointed surroundings. It may take some years to develop an attractive lawn or garden, but the task will bring satisfaction, however long delayed. Besides, what you do with your lot will add to the natural beauty of your town.

Property Tax Equalization

All of us can think of things we would rather do than pay taxes. Yet we have to pay them, in all shapes and sizes and forms. In some instances they are too high—primarily federal taxes. Since we must pay on an equal basis under the law, then we are entitled to expect that all of us will be taxed equitably and fairly. No one can stand on sound ground and be opposed to this principle.

Property taxes in our county—and in many others—are not always arranged equitably. That is, some people pay a lesser rate than others. This is because the evaluation of the various pieces of property are not logical. One piece of prop-

What Are You Doing With Life?

Every citizen should ask himself, from time to time, where he is headed and exactly what he is doing with his life. We do not pose as one who knows it all, or as a great moralizer who can tell everyone else how to live his life of his life.

On the other hand, we are admittedly idealistic enough to feel that the human race was put on the earth for some purpose. And, likewise, we believe that every citizen has an obligation to contribute something as he travels the road of life. In small towns, large towns, and in rural areas, there are many who spend one hundred per cent of their time seeking pleasure, self-indulgence and self-entertainment. Too often, money and a good time are the only goals that amount to much in the lives of many of us.

If you can show nothing for your life, if you have dedicated it to nothing in particular, and if you have not sincerely tried to leave just a little mark on your community, to create just a little good, to help your fellow-men in some small way, then we suspect that the life hereafter will be an empty one. The happiest people we have known, and the richest, are those who have done something for their fellow-men, and who have stood for something in their community.

We each have a purpose, and we must answer to the test and decide what we will do with our lives. Idleness, self-indulgence, complete disinterest in our community government, life and the events around us, a refusal to try to be informed on civic and current issues, do not add up to a good contribution to our society. It is so easy to make no contribution at all. That is why one must constantly ask himself, "What is my contribution on this earth?"

THURSDAY, MARCH 23

Read Luke 9:18-22

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9:23)

Vesper Point, a Christian Camp in Barboursville, Indiana, overlooks two beautiful lakes. The seating arrangement among the green trees of the wooded ridge is one concrete block for each person.

The worship center is constructed of concrete blocks and is a wealth of rough tree limbs. It is a wealth of rough tree limbs, a symbol of the one on which Jesus, the suffering servant, was crucified.

Once the cross was a frame used to crucify outcasts of earth. Now it lowers over the world as a symbol of man's hope. The cross arm reaches out to all people—the crippled, the blind, the weak and the strong, the poor and the wealthy, the ignorant and the educated—to bring them to God.

By denying ourselves and faithfully bearing our cross, we show forth our love and gratitude to our Redeemer, who suffered to save us from sin.

PRAYER

O Lord, we give Thee praise for the hope Thou hast given us through Jesus Christ. Prevent us from ignoring, neglecting, or becoming indifferent to the cross. We would have each of us to carry in His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Self-denial and cross-bearing are required of every Christian.

her four-room apartment and listen to classical music, write letters, or delve into matters pertaining to Highland Park Methodist Church, where she has been very active.

For five years, Lanie Mae Clifton has occupied a upstairs apartment near Southern Methodist University. She lives in a rambling, red brick structure that has been converted into an apartment house.

Here, she cooks breakfast and dinner. But she lunches in one of the busy downtown spots—either the bank cafeteria or some place nearby.

Neither a fancy cook nor enchanted by fancy foods, Miss Clifton's appetite runs more to steak, roast beef and the like. She has about four or five cups of coffee during the day, and usually with friends during a "coffee break."

Although she spends a considerable amount of time alone, Miss Clifton does not find life dull. She doesn't even own a TV set.

"I think it would detract from good reading, and for that reason, I just never bought one," she said. Her taste in reading runs to historical and Biblical, but also includes a good amount of psychology.

"I have an interest in people knowing themselves and being true to themselves, and I think psychology helps," Miss Clifton said.

It was around 1950 when she decided that, in order to be true to herself, she should do what she liked—and that was to study to be a secretary. By that time, she already had a degree in home economics and so she enrolled in the University of Georgia's evening school in Atlanta.

A year later she was on the way to a secretarial job at a Jackson, Miss. bank, and later in the bank of Georgia in Atlanta.

Today, Miss Clifton has no nothing interfere with her job, which includes dictation, transcription, handling appointments, scheduling itineraries, meeting bank customers, dealing with bank customers, dealing with departmental matters, scheduling committee meetings and filing.

"To know what you want and prepare yourself for it—that is the secret of everybody's success." And that is the major advice that Miss Clifton would offer others who seek a secretarial career.

"Marriage? If it comes her way, fine. But Miss Clifton is, at present, strictly career minded. Only last year she was one of two secretaries throughout the nation to be nominated for the highest award for women in banking. She also is an active member in the Big D chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

And so, that's Lanie Mae Clifton from Statesboro, Ga., population 12,000. She lives simply, works diligently and keeps her mind on the future.

Although she lives alone in a small Dallas apartment and her brothers and sisters are scattered throughout Georgia, she plans to remain in Texas.

Fellow employees at the First National Bank in Dallas describe her as "devoted to her job." Others say she's "quiet, sophisticated." But, laughing easily, Miss Clifton refers to herself as "pretty much of a country girl."

Her day off may find her riding through the countryside near Dallas in her 1954 Chevrolet, either alone or with friends. Or she may curl up on the couch in

CIVIC GARDEN CLUB

The Civic Garden Club met

Thursday, March 23, at the Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, with the hostesses, Mrs. Aubert Brannen,

Mrs. Jim Brannen and Mrs. L. M. Durden, serving light

refreshments. Mrs. A. L. Sutherland opened the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Alfred Dorman, the outing president, presided at the meeting and presented Mrs. Inman Dekle, the newly elected president, who conducted the business session.

The program for the morning was in charge of Mrs. J. O. Johnston and Mrs. E. L. Barnes and the topic was "Birds and Conversation."

Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Johnston presented an amusing telephone skit on the care and feeding of birds.

Mrs. Barnes brought along a box of dried materials, each member having to draw a number, these in turn were asked to select one piece of the material from the box and place in a container. When each had participated, it formed a complete dried arrangement, demonstrating the "Spirit of Togetherness," Mrs. Barnes said she deeply appreciated this, as she had not had time to make one herself.

Mrs. Johnston brought a formal arrangement of spring flowers in a tiered milk glass complete with two white birds, completing the arrangement. Mrs. Dorman arranged a vase of daffodils and Mrs. Johnston arranged a vase of daffodils and Mrs. Johnston arranged a vase of daffodils.

Members attending other than mentioned above were Mrs. C. P. Olliff, Sr., Mrs. H. P. Jones, Sr., Mrs. R. L. Winburn, Mrs. J. P. Poy, Mrs. Henry Blitch, Mrs. Glenn Jennings, Mrs. George Johnston, Mrs. J. P. Collins, Mrs. Clyde Mitchell and Mrs. Percy Smith.

Members attending were Mrs. A. McKee, Mrs. J. W. Rowe, Mrs. S. Baldwin, Mrs. Ernest Cannon, Mrs. Hunter Robertson, Sara Lynn Robertson, Mrs. Jones Lane, Mrs. F. C. Parker, Jr., Mrs. John Strickland, Mrs. Ken Copelan, Mrs. Tom Preston, Mrs. David Ward and vice president, Mrs. Julian Tillman.

Sandwiches, cheese straws, cookies and coffee were served.

Mrs. E. L. Smith, the president, presided and paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. W. S. Hanner, on the table as a memorial to Mrs. Hanner was an arrangement of white carnations in a silver vase. Mrs. F. W. Darcy presented Mrs. F. C. Parker, Jr., who gave a wonderful talk on "Basic Rules for Flower Arrangements."

Mrs. J. V. Tillman, Mrs. D. L. Davis and Mrs. Darcy brought to the club an arrangement for demonstration and discussion. Members attending were Mrs. E. L. Olliff, Sr., Mrs. H. P. Jones, Sr., Mrs. R. "I'VE BEEN GETTING A FULL STAND OF CORN EVERY YEAR..."

...for the ten years I've been using ISOTOX Seed Treater—and with almost no replanting. Before I started using ISOTOX I was losing up to 50% of the stand in some sections, due to wireworms, and frequently had to replant." William Wade knows what he's talking about. He farms 300 acres—grows mainly corn and soybeans. Using one can to five bushels of corn seed, he figures the cost of ISOTOX protection at about 16¢ an acre. ISOTOX 25 Seed Treater (F) is a combination insecticide-fungicide that protects germinating seed from wireworms, corn seed maggots, certain soil insects and diseases. It saves expensive replanting, gives greater emergence, more uniform stands and higher yields. ISOTOX 25 Seed Treater (F) is applied by simply mixing it right in the planter box with the seed. The 1 lb. can costs $3.45, treats enough seed to plant 28 acres.

William Wade uses ISOTOX 25 Seed Treater (F) in his planter box.
